

PERSONAL INVITE TEMPLATE

Campaign Virtual Launch Event

March 25, 2021 | 5:30 to 6:30 pm

Is there text I can use in inviting people? Yes! There's wording below; of course feel free to change it to suit your needs.

Dear (guest name),

I hope this message finds you safe and healthy. Like you, I am deeply invested in the institutions that help our communities and businesses thrive.

For me, one of the most important of these is Seattle Colleges — Central, North and South. Their work to transform lives, promote equity, and increase access to quality, affordable education gets far too little attention, I think. That's particularly true now, as we strive to overcome the upheavals of the last year, and rebuild our community along better, more equitable lines.

In support of the thousands of first-generation college students and students of color who make the Seattle Colleges their springboard to degrees, professional credentials, and transfer opportunities, The Seattle Colleges Foundation is starting a major campaign, Equity Can't Wait. I'm helping assemble a special group of people for the March 25 virtual launch event. Will you join my table? Among the featured speakers will be honorary campaign chair, and Costco co-founder Jim Sinegal. Event details:

WHEN: Thursday, March 25 | 5:00 pm for informal mingling | 5:30 to 6:30 for program

WHERE: Online (link will be provided)

ATTENDING: Community leaders like yourself who are committed to a truly inclusive prosperity

TO REGISTER: Sign up here. Please indicate that you want to be at my virtual table.

CAN'T COME? Please consider a gift to the campaign. You can learn more here.

Thank you! If you have any questions about Seattle Colleges, the campaign, or the event, please contact us at advancement@seattlecolleges.edu.

Sincerely,
(your name)
